Overview

- Tax Information Confidential
- Types of Third Party Access
- How to Grant Access

Tax Return Information is Protected by Law

- Iowa law provides strong protections for tax returns and return information
- It is a crime to disclose tax return information to an unauthorized person
- The Department will not provide confidential tax information to an unauthorized person
- The Department requires certain information about people authorized to receive a taxpayer's return information in order to ensure that information is protected from unauthorized disclosure

Types of Access

- Taxpayer
- Authorized Representative
- Power of Attorney (POA)
- Disclosure Designee

- The taxpayer can
  - Access their own tax information
  - Talk with the Department about their tax information
  - Make decisions and take action regarding their tax information with the department
  - Designate someone else to receive information and/or take actions with the Department regarding their taxes instead

Who is the Taxpayer?

- Individuals
  - Typically an easy determination
  - Some exceptions such as minors and people who are incapacitated
- Entities
  - Legally the taxpayer
  - Cannot speak for themselves
  - Assign authorized representatives

Authorized Representative

- A person who already has actual authority to act on behalf of a taxpayer in tax matters
  - Businesses
    - The owner
    - An authorized partner
    - A corporate officer
    - An employee who is responsible for tax matters
  - Others
    - Trustee
    - Executor of an estate
    - Parent of a minor who signed the minor's return
    - Court appointed guardian or custodian

The Department does not inherently know who is authorized without additional information

Power of Attorney (POA)

- Appointed by the taxpayer or a documented authorized representative
- Must be appointed using the IA 2848 Power of Attorney form
  - Altered federal 2848s are no longer accepted
- By default, POA has full authority to act on behalf of the taxpayer
  - Same as if they were the taxpayer or an authorized representative
- POA's authority can be limited by using Exclusions on the form
- Authorization is limited to three years beyond the signature date.

Disclosure Designee

- Appointed by the taxpayer or a documented authorized representative
- Must be appointed using the IA 8821 Tax Information Disclosure
   Designation form
- By default, designee can view and receive information about all of the taxpayer's lowa taxes
  - Access can be limited to specific periods and/or tax types.
- Designee is not authorized to take any action with the Department on the taxpayer's behalf

Granting Access

Authorized Representative

- A person who already has actual authority to act on behalf of a taxpayer in tax matters
  - Technically they are declaring their authority, not being granted access
- The Department does not inherently know who is authorized without additional information
- Three methods to declare the representative's authority to the Department
  - Representative Certification form (14-108)
  - Iowa Business Tax Permit Registration (78-005)
  - Iowa entity income tax returns (2023 and later)
